SRI LANKA - RAPIDLY EXPANDING MARKET

The wood-based manufacturing sector in Sri Lanka depends almost entirely on the wood supply for raw materials. The sector is diverse, consisting of a variety of industries including saw milling, furniture, construction, parquet flooring, wood-based panel products, carvings and wooden products. Sri Lanka possesses an abundance of natural resources that enrich and sustain the lives of its people. Although exports have gradually increased over the past decade and show great growth potential.

Many medium and small scale wood industrialists use un-dried and untreated timber to manufacture their products due to lack of knowledge about the subject. This process directly effects negative impact on the quality of the products. In rural areas, manual tools are being used as yet for complex carpentry related work. This reduces the speed, capacity and quality of production making them uncompetitive in the market. The Government and Wood working associations are thus supporting Exhibition platforms to educate the people of Wood Industry about the Latest Technologies and Machines.

Sri Lanka's furniture and wood based product exports are rising due to growing potential in this business. There is great demand for Sri Lankan furniture in foreign countries and the country should explore this opportunity to earn much needed foreign exchange. The country is exploring the India & neighboring market taking advantage of THE FREE TRADE AGREEMENT between the two countries. Also The Sri Lankan wooden products industry is now catering to the expectations of international buyers.
